

Terms & Conditions for BBC Chapters WhatsApp Groups

1. Purpose of the Group

The WhatsApp groups for BBC Chapters are created to facilitate communication among members of the Belgian Business Chamber (BBC) at the local chapter level. These groups aim to share relevant business updates, event information, and foster professional networking.

2. Membership Eligibility

- Membership is restricted to active BBC members and invited guests approved by the group administrator.
- Members must provide their real names and affiliation with the BBC.

3. Group Etiquette & Guidelines

- Respectful communication is expected at all times. Any form of harassment, hate speech, or discriminatory content will not be tolerated.
- Only business-related discussions, announcements, and BBC-related topics are allowed.
- No spamming, excessive self-promotion, or unrelated advertising.
- Avoid forwarding chain messages, fake news, or any unverified information.
- Confidential or sensitive information should not be shared in the group.
- Conversations should remain professional and relevant to BBC activities.

4. Moderation & Enforcement

- Group administrators have the right to warn, mute, or remove any member who violates these rules.
- Repeated violations may result in permanent removal from the group.
- Any concerns about the group or members should be reported to the administrators directly.

5. Privacy & Data Protection

- Members must respect the privacy of others and refrain from sharing contact details or messages outside the group without consent.
- BBC is not responsible for any misuse of information shared in the group.
- By joining the group, members acknowledge that their phone numbers will be visible to others in the group.

6. Liability Disclaimer

- The BBC and group administrators do not take responsibility for the accuracy of information shared by members.
- Participation in the group is voluntary, and BBC is not liable for any damages arising from group discussions or interactions.

7. Amendments to the Terms

- BBC reserves the right to update these terms at any time. Members will be notified of any significant changes.

By remaining in the group, members agree to abide by these Terms & Conditions. Failure to comply may result in removal from the group.
